What is JSTOR?

What is JSTOR?

JSTOR is a digital library of more than 1,900 academic journals, 19,000 books, and 2 million primary sources.

JSTOR is a service of ITHAKA (ithaka.org), a not-for-profit organization that helps the academic community use digital technologies to preserve the scholarly record and to advance research and teaching in sustainable ways.

Libraries may choose to subscribe to individual archive collections, current journals, and may purchase books from JSTOR.

- » All of the content licensed or purchased by a library is cross-searchable on JSTOR.
- » Journals, books, and pamphlets on JSTOR are all full-text.
- » All the materials on JSTOR are scholarly and academic. Almost all journals are peer-reviewed. However, some journal issues pre-date today's standard peer-review process, and some are literary/primary materials – these would not have gone through a peer review process.

Using JSTOR: Searching

The Basic Search Form

A screenshot of the JSTOR search form on a secondary page. The form is located in the top-left corner of the page. It consists of a text input field and a dark button labeled "Search". To the right of the search form is the JSTOR logo, which is a red square containing a white letter 'J' and the word "STOR" below it. To the right of the logo are links for "Login", "Help", "Contact Us", and "About". Below the search form and logo is a footer that reads "Your access to JSTOR provided by JSTOR".

Try these tips for a more effective Basic search:

 - “to be or not to be”
 - “customer relationship management”
- » Use Boolean operators to construct a better search:
 - “tea trade” AND smuggling
 - microfinance OR microcredit
 - “united states” NOT “united kingdom”
- » Use field codes to search for titles and authors quickly:
